

Presentation

The Biology CRAI Library, together with the rest of the libraries of the University of Barcelona, is part of the Learning and Research Resources Centre (CRAI). It aims to meet the needs deriving from the teaching and research activities of the UB community.

The library has a total surface area of 2,455 sq m spread over two floors, offering 450 individual reading desks, two computer rooms, five group work spaces, a multi-purpose room and a separate space housing the reserve collection.

Access is unrestricted, but most services are available only to members of the UB community.

The collection focuses primarily on biology, biochemistry, biotechnology, biomedicine and the environment.

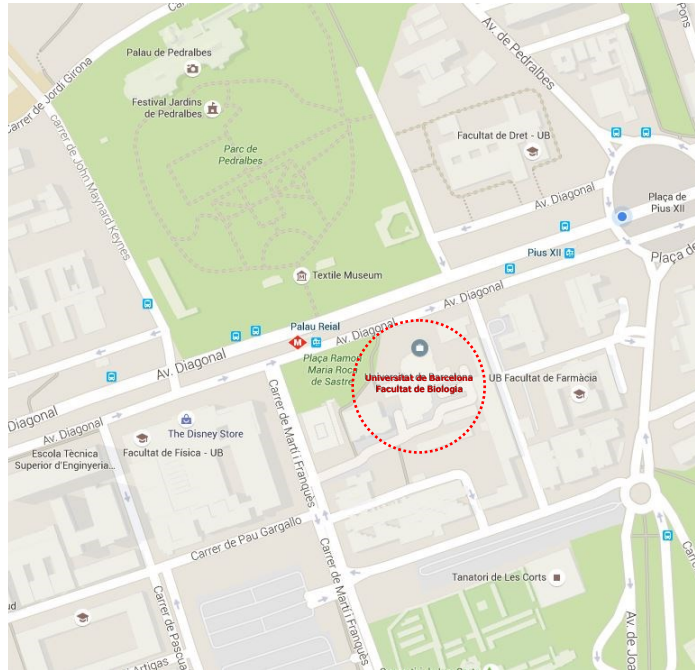

The library houses the personal archives of internationally renowned former professors, such as Ramon Margalef López and Antoni Prevosti Pelegrín.

Mention must also be made of the Herbarium, a unique collection of common local and regional flora that is updated on a regular basis.

Basic rules and regulations

- Users must work in SILENCE
- Mobile phones must be switched to silent
- Work spaces are available on a first-come first-served basis
- No food or drink may be consumed on library premises
- Library facilities must be used responsibly
