Databases
The Rare Book and Manuscript CRAI Library has created two databases that are maintained and added to on a weekly basis.

Printers' devices
http://www.bib.ub.edu/fileadmin/impressors/home_eng.htm

Former owners
http://www.bib.ub.edu/fileadmin/posseidors/home_eng.htm

Printers' devices details the printers' devices that appear in the cataloguing process. Each record contains different fields that provide information about the Printer himself and devices he used, alongside a series of illustrative images.

Former owners provides information about some of the former owners who appear in the Rare Book and Manuscript Collection, together with images.

The two databases are linked to bibliographic records in the general catalog that contain the searched entry.

The restoration of the University to Barcelona in 1836 and the ecclesiastical confiscations of Mendizabal are the two main events in the origins of the Rare book and Manuscript CRAI Library. The bibliographic collections of the expropriated convents of different religious orders in the Barcelona province, covering a wide range of themes and dating from distinct periods, account for more than 90% of the collection. The remainder comprises the ancient library collection of the University of Cervera, donations and acquisitions, and the former collection of the School of Medicine and Surgery, which later became the Faculty of Medicine.

Collections

- Manuscripts: 2174 manuscripts, dating from the tenth to the nineteenth century and covering a wide range of subjects. The most emblematic item is the 1343 Chronicle of James I.

- Incunabula: 975 copies of 772 different editions. Particularly well represented is printing in Barcelona and Spain, as well as throughout Europe. Ninety-one of the items cannot be found in any other library, and four are the only surviving examples in the world.

- Printed books: More than 10,000 printed books from the sixteenth century, more than 45,000 from the seventeenth century, approximately 55,000 from the eighteenth century and some 1,000 from the period 1800-1820, with a significant presence of European printing, especially Spanish, Italian, French and Portuguese and, to a lesser extent, Flemish, German and Swiss. Particularly noteworthy are the sermons, periodicals and works on legal sciences and medicine.

- Engravings: More than 8,000 engravings from the sixteenth to the nineteenth centuries, representing all of the major techniques and trends. Of the total collection, 5,392 items are duplicates held by the National Library of Spain, donated to the University of Barcelona in 1887. The remainder come from the ecclesiastical confiscations.

- Parchments: There are 890 parchments from different monasteries, corresponding to documentation from different places, mainly from Empordà, the Col·legi de l’Assumpció of the ancient Estudium Generale of Lleida, and bachelor’s degrees from the University of Cervera and other universities, dating from the eleventh to the seventeenth centuries.
