Terms of Dissemination and Conservation of the University of Barcelona Digital Repository

- The works deposited in the University of Barcelona Digital Repository (<http://diposit.ub.edu>) are published under Creative Commons licences. These licences do not prevent the original author of the work from freely selling it, in accordance with current law, as the moral and exploitation rights to the work are held and will continue to be held by the author.
- The University of Barcelona reserves the right to withdraw any work from publication whenever it sees fit for justified reasons, e.g. if a third party enforces a right to all or part of the work and the author is unable to guarantee the peaceful exercise of the rights assigned to the University. The author and the University undertake to notify each other of the existence of any third-party claim in relation to the work.
- If an error is detected in the work, it will be returned to the author.
- The University of Barcelona will make the work available to its users under the conditions established in the distribution licence chosen by the author, but it neither guarantees nor assumes any responsibility for any subsequent use that its users might make of the final project.
- The University of Barcelona is not required to publish all the works received by the depository; furthermore, if an error is detected, the material will be returned to the author so that he or she can make the necessary changes.
- The University of Barcelona agrees to conserve, wherever possible, all works deposited in accordance with the Digital Repository's format support policy.
